HULFT Data Capture

Capture and deliver critical data from all your documents

HULFT Data Capture changes the way data is managed between you, your customers, vendors, and partners by eliminating the time-consuming process of manual data entry and custom coding transfers of business documents.

Choose how much automation you want to use.

Our process can be fully automated from beginning to end, or paused for any level of intervention for purposes of data validation and approval. You make the choice.

Pay only for the services you use.

HULFT Data Capture is built on a flexible, scalable, and usage-based model. Our experts are available at any point to oversee or provide technical support for your data transfers.

The right data in the right place.

We can take the next step in connecting the data back to your database and system of choice, or you can take it from here. If further data prep is required, our solutions consultants will show you how HULFT Integrate can transform and convert data into a specified structure or format, then sends it to a desired destination.

Flexible Integration into HULFT Integrate

After a data capture service is completed and if further data prep is required, HULFT Integrate can transform and convert data into a specified structure or format, then sends it to a desired destination.

You can email files directly to us, or upload them into our HULFT Cloud Services portal – either way, it's fast, easy, and we keep your data safe and secure.

2 Tell us the data you want

Once you identify the data fields you want to capture and rules for future validation, we'll do the rest. You'll be provided a secure HULFT Cloud Services portal login to check on the status of your documents anytime you want.

3 Validate your data

The HULFT Cloud Services portal provides real-time visibility into the workflow, which tracks your documents from receipt to return. You have full access to validate and adjust the data based on the predefined parameters.
